As such, it is a wise time to invest in building knowledge and skills that will help us adapt, innovate, and sustain our diverse livelihoods. The College of Rural and Community Development is pleased to welcome you as we embark on another year of exploration and learning.

At CRCD, we offer a personable, supportive and high quality educational experience. This semester's schedule presents the courses available to you by the following: Audio Conference, Web, Blackboard, Blackboard Collaborate, Video Conferencing, and often a combination of those listed.

I would like to thank all of our partner organizations and the State of Alaska for ongoing support of post-secondary education and workforce development. It is through partnership that we are able to offer quality educational programs and student support in communities throughout Alaska.
