A BRIDGE TO YOUR FUTURE

The Eileen Panigeo MacLean House bridges rural communities and the University of Alaska Fairbanks by helping to meet the unique transitional education, social and residential needs of students from rural areas of Alaska.

We especially try to serve those first time freshmen who may have reservations about leaving village life and coming to a university setting. Through culturally relevant programming and management, Eileen's House creates a living and learning community that supports the academic mission of the University of Alaska Fairbanks and fosters student success.

EILEEN'S HOUSE FACILITIES

- 20 residents max
- 2 single beds per room
- Private laundry and work out room
- In the common area: living room, cable tv, pool table, vending machines, study area, kitchen, administrative offices

ABOUT EILEEN

Alaska State Library Historical Collections

Eileen's House was named after the late Eileen Panigeo MacLean, an Alaska State Representative, North Slope borough resident and UAF alumnae who was strongly involved in Alaska Native rights and education.

"It's a great place to meet new people."
— Nathaniel Olemaun

"It's nice coming back to a community where I feel very welcomed."
— Trina Brower
