

Table 4.1 Outcomes Assessment Implementation Summary

	Academic Year
	2009-10	2010-11	2011-12
Assessment information collected			The college of Rural and Community Development has recently undergone restructuring impacting all programs. One significant improvement is the implementation of program assessment protocols which until now, have not been consistently conducted. Thus, while we do not have HUMS program assessment summary data, our SLOA has clear guidelines for assessment as we move forward. Along with the development of a Department and Program Head structure for CRCD programs, considerable work has gone into solidifying the HUMS program as a single CRCD program rather than a splintered program based on modality of delivery or campus location of particular faculty. This will strengthen the program overall, allow for a single assessment process applicable to the whole program (rather than parts) and promote stronger assessment and corresponding curricular changes when needed. The HUMS program completed an evaluative process and tool for the upcoming 2012-2013 academic year. The program will collect, assess, and review the data collected and submit a new summary report in May 2013.
Conclusions drawn from the information collected above and how are faculty collectively involved in drawing conclusions
Curricular changes resulting from conclusions drawn above			