- Registration Information - Special course offerings may not be dropped once instruction has started and are not refundable unless the University cancels the course, or the student officially drops the course prior to the first official day of the course. As referenced in the UAF Course Definitions section, such course offerings are numbered 001-049 for continuing education units or 500-599 for professional development.
- Fee Types - UAF consolidated fees apply for all credited offerings, unless by exception with approval via sponsor or co-sponsor agreement. Self-Support or administrative fees assessed for non-traditional courses may be assessed as per credit hour or as a flat rate. Non-academic, vocational/technical and special courses vary between programs delivery methods, and community campuses.
- Fee Payment - Non-traditional courses follow the same semester payment deadline as traditional courses. Students who register into late starting course registration after the term payment deadline are expected to pay the fees at the time of registration.
- Administrative fee for academic credits granted for university-level course work that are co-sponsored by various organizations with which UAF has an ongoing relationship. A co-sponsored course is one in which an external entity bears most or all instructional costs.
- Co-sponsored courses that are built to use university infrastructure will also be assessed the campus consolidated fee in addition to the co-sponsored course fee.
- Non-resident tuition does not apply to the following courses - CEU, Non-Credit, Undergraduate Co-sponsored courses and Sponsored Courses, Alaska Advantage, and Professional Development.
