

Know your state law regarding the use of cell phones and texting while driving

As more information becomes available on the safety implications of using mobile technology while driving, states are enacting distracted driving legislation at a rapid pace.

Do you know your state laws? Are you familiar with the state laws when traveling? This quick quiz will help you find out.

