

FULL Frame

Mud volleyball is a highlight of SpringFest, the annual Friday off from classes just before finals. Formerly known as All Campus Day or Meltdown (and in some tipping circles as Case Day), SpringFest has been a Nanook tradition on the Fairbanks campus since the late 1950s. Students get down and dirty playing in the mud, drop fruit off the Gruening Building or help clean up campus after the long winter, all in the name of good, messy fun.

Relive your memories of college. You can order a reprint of this photo and many others at www.photos.uaf.edu.