PREREQUISITES*		FREQUENCY OF OFFERING

*Prerequisites will be required before a student is allowed to enroll in the course.
 Reference the registration implications below due to Banner coding of these terms:
Prerequisite: Course completed and grade of "C" (2.0) or higher prior to registering for the course that requires it.
Concurrent: Course may be taken simultaneously (and allows for a course to have been previously completed).
Co-requisite: Courses MUST be taken simultaneously and does NOT allow for fact that a course was previously completed!

CREDITS (including credit distribution)		COURSE CLASSIFICATION
ADD CROSS-LISTING See #8 if intent is to stop an existing cross-listing.	Dept.	(Requires approval of both departments and deans involved. Add lines at end of form for additional signatures.)
STACKED (400/600) Include syllabi.	Dept.	Course #

Stacked course applications are reviewed by the (Undergraduate) Curricular Review Committee and by the Graduate Academic and Advising Committee. Creating two different syllabi—undergraduate and graduate versions—will help emphasize the different qualities of what are supposed to be two different courses. The committees will determine: 1) whether the two versions are sufficiently different (i.e. is there undergraduate and graduate level content being offered); 2) are undergraduates being overtaxed?; 3) are graduate students being undertaxed? In this context, the committees are looking out for the interests of the students taking the course. Typically, if either committee has qualms, they both do. More info online - see URL at top of this page.

OTHER (please specify)	Requested change makes the course repeatable for credit when different themes are offered.

3. COURSE FORMAT

NOTE: Course hours may not be compressed into fewer than three days per credit. Any course compressed into fewer than six weeks must be approved by the college or school's curriculum council and the appropriate Faculty Senate curriculum committee. Furthermore, any core course compressed to less than six weeks must be approved by the core review committee.

COURSE FORMAT: (check all that apply)	1	2	3	4	5	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	6 weeks to full semester
OTHER FORMAT (specify all that apply)
Mode of delivery (specify lecture, field trips, labs, etc)

4. COURSE CLASSIFICATIONS: (undergraduate courses only. Use approved criteria found on Page 10 & 17 of the manual. If justification is needed, attach on separate sheet.)

H = Humanities S = Social Sciences

Will this course be used to fulfill a requirement for the baccalaureate core? YES NO

IF YES*, check which core requirements it could be used to fulfill:

O = Oral Intensive, W = Writing Intensive, Natural Science,
*Format 6 also submitted *Format 7 submitted *Format 8 submitted

4.A Is course content related to northern, arctic or circumpolar studies? If yes, a "snowflake" symbol will be added in the printed Catalog, and flagged in Banner.

YES NO

5. COURSE REPEATABILITY:

Is this course repeatable for credit? YES NO

Justification: Indicate why the course can be repeated (for example, the course follows a different theme each time).

Course is repeatable when the course follows a different theme.

How many times may the course be repeated for credit? TIMES

If the course can be repeated with variable credit, what is the maximum number of credit hours that may be earned for this course? CREDITS

10. ESTIMATED IMPACT

WHAT IMPACT, IF ANY, WILL THIS HAVE ON BUDGET, FACILITIES/SPACE, FACULTY, ETC.

Petitions are currently necessary for students who wish to repeat this course when different themes are offered.

11. LIBRARY COLLECTIONS

Have you contacted the library collection development officer (kljensen@alaska.edu, 474-6695) with regard to the adequacy of library/media collections, equipment, and services available for the proposed course? If so, give date of contact and resolution. If not, explain why not.

No Yes

12. IMPACTS ON PROGRAMS/DEPTS:

What programs/departments will be affected by this proposed action? Include information on the Programs/Departments contacted (e.g., email, memo)

No impact on other departments/programs

13. POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE IMPACTS

Please specify positive and negative impacts on other courses, programs and departments resulting from the proposed action.

This change will reduce the number of petitions filed by students who repeat this course.

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. If you ask for a change in # of credits, explain why; are you increasing the amount of material covered in the class? If you drop a prerequisite, is it because the material is covered elsewhere? If course is changing to stacked (400/600), explain higher level of effort and performance required on part of students earning graduate credit. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed change and explain what has been done to ensure that the quality of the course is not compromised as a result.

The Art Department is pleased to be able to offer a wide variety of art history topics through this seminar course. Since art degree seeking students are required to take several art history courses, their course opportunities are greatly increased by making F467 repeatable.

ATTACH COMPLETE SYLLABUS (as part of this application).

The guidelines are online:

<http://www.uaf.edu/uafgov/faculty-senate/curriculum/course-degree-procedures/uaf-syllabus-requirements/>

The Faculty Senate curriculum committees will review the syllabus to ensure that each of the items listed below are included. If items are missing or unclear, the proposed course (or changes to it) may be denied.

SYLLABUS CHECKLIST FOR ALL UAF COURSES

During the first week of class, instructors will distribute a course syllabus.

Although modifications may be made throughout the semester, this document will contain the following information (as applicable to the discipline):

1. Course information:

Title, number, credits, prerequisites, location, meeting time
(make sure that contact hours are in line with credits).

2. Instructor (and if applicable, Teaching Assistant) information:

Name, office location, office hours, telephone, email address.

3. Course readings/materials:

Course textbook title, author, edition/publisher.
 Supplementary readings (indicate whether required or recommended) and any supplies required.

4. Course description:

Content of the course and how it fits into the broader curriculum;
 Expected proficiencies required to undertake the course, if applicable.
 Inclusion of catalog description is strongly recommended, and
 Description in syllabus must be consistent with catalog course description.

5. Course Goals (general), and (see #6)

6. Student Learning Outcomes (more specific)

7. Instructional methods:

Describe the teaching techniques (eg: lecture, case study, small group discussion, private instruction, studio instruction, values clarification, games, journal writing, use of Blackboard, audio/video conferencing, etc.).

8. Course calendar:

A schedule of class topics and assignments must be included. Be specific so that it is clear that the instructor has thought this through and will not be making it up on the fly (e.g. it is not adequate to say "lab". Instead, give each lab a title that describes its content). You may call the outline Tentative or Work in Progress to allow for modifications during the semester.

9. Course policies:

Specify course rules, including your policies on attendance, tardiness, class participation, make-up exams, and plagiarism/academic integrity.

10. Evaluation:

Specify how students will be evaluated, what factors will be included, their relative value, and how they will be tabulated into grades (on a curve, absolute scores, etc.) Publicize UAF regulations with regard to the grades of "C" and below as applicable to this course. (Not required in the syllabus, but may be a convenient way to publicize this.) Faculty Senate Meeting #171:

<http://www.uaf.edu/uafgov/faculty-senate/meetings/2010-2011-meetings/#171>

11. Support Services:

Describe the student support services such as tutoring (local and/or regional) appropriate for the course.

12. Disabilities Services: Note that the phone# and location have been updated.

The Office of Disability Services implements the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and ensures that UAF students have equal access to the campus and course materials.

State that you will work with the Office of Disabilities Services (208 WHITAKER BLDG, 474-5655) to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The advent of photography brought radical changes to both art and mass culture. Combining new visual perspectives with a reverence for past traditions and high artistic aspirations with a newly democratic approach to image-making, photography ushered in a new way of thinking about images and their place in society.

This survey course will present an overview of the major trends, developments, and critical responses to photography in the 19th and 20th centuries.

COURSE GOALS: In contemporary visual culture, photography is not only an art form, but also a documentary record, a sentimental domestic practice, a commercial tool, and a symbolic cultural language. As such, photography can be seen to have multiple histories: aesthetic, technological, social, political, and economic. The aim of this course will be to explore these multiple histories by examining photography as a whole and the negotiations and inter connections between its various functions.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES: The student will be able to identify, research, and discuss a variety of important pre-photographic and photographic images; to discuss photography as a medium that both constructs and reflects culture, and to discuss photography as an aesthetic form, a technological practice, and a vehicle for social issues.

REQUIRED TEXTS: Seizing the Light: A Social History of Photography (second edition, 2009) by Robert Hirsch, and Criticizing Photographs: An Introduction to Understanding Images (fifth edition, 2010) by Terry Barrett. Both are available as new or used paperbacks through the UAF Bookstore. A suggested reading schedule is included below. Reading assignments are to be completed before class.

I have also ordered an optional book that is also available at the bookstore, shelved with the others. The new paperback, Framing Photography, by Rebekah Modrak and Bill Anthes, combines instruction in photographic production alongside cultural history. I think you will find it inspirational. This is also available online to rent as a Kindle edition; it's up to you.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION: Class format will be primarily lecture with discussion. Graduate students will, at times, prepare and direct lectures and discussions.

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined. All documentation of disability is confidential. Disability Services is located at the Whitaker Building, Room 208. Phone: 907-474-5655, TTY: 907-474-1827, Fax: 907-474-5688. Email: uaf-disabilityservices@alaska.edu.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS: There will be four short directed-writing assignments as homework. They will serve to bring us together in discussion as a class. The writing exercises will be graded for clear articulation and expression. Critical and analytical thinking will be emphasized.

Papers are due: Mon Sept. 17, Mon Oct. 22, Mon Nov 19, and Mon Dec. 3

EXAMINATIONS: There will be three non-cumulative examinations on the text and lecture material. Students are expected to have a knowledge of the basic characteristics and chronological development of photographic techniques and aesthetic styles. In addition, they should be able to identify and discuss a number of critical approaches and important photographers. A list of important works, reproduced in the text, will be distributed before each exam.

In lieu of one exam, a student may choose to present a visual project which relates to the history of photography. A portfolio of 5-10 mounted photographs (or approved technological substitution) can be submitted along with a typed page discussing the rationale of the project. For example, you might consider making photographs "in the style of" some artist(s) we have studied. I do NOT want a recycling of images produced for other classes, but rather, a current effort produced with this class in mind.

RESEARCH PAPER: For writing intensive credit, each student must produce a 10-page research paper. I will provide guidelines. The student will present their project to the class in 15 minutes...to be scheduled in advance.

CLASS: Lectures will be supplemented with field trips and class discussions. All reading assignments are to be completed before class.

GRADING: Grades will be based on the average of "the writing assignments' average" and the three exams. In other words, each of the 4 writing assignments is worth 5 points. Each of the three exams is worth 20 points. The project and presentation are worth 20 points. The final grade will be this total number of points against a scale of a possible 100 points,

93-100=A 90-92=A- 87-89=B+ 83-86=B 80-82=B- 77-79=C+ 73-76=C 70-72=C- 67-69=D+ 63-66=D 60-62=D- <60=F

The instructor's Final Grades will include plusses and minuses.

UAF ART 463: SEMINAR IN ART HISTORY -
CONTEMPORARY ART, CRITICISM, & THEORY

Fall 2007

Class held: MWF 2:15- 3:15 in MUSI 301

3 credits

Dr. Mary Goodwin's Office Hours: MWF 1:00-2:00 & by appointment in MUSI 304

Office phone: 474-7726; e-mail: ffmcg@uaf.edu

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A survey of art from the last thirty years, with particular attention to the way in which theory and criticism shape the construction and reception of art. The new postmodern art criticism replaces the terminology of modernist formalist criticism - quality, attribution, style, and connoisseurship - with a new set of labels such as ideology, class, gender, sign, and signifier. Postmodern art criticism has its theoretical origins in the disciplines of the social sciences and literary theory.

Our post-industrial information age has had its effects: authenticity and originality are challenged; the notion of a monolithic social condition is challenged; high and low culture are given equal regard, and interdisciplinary work is heralded.

This course would normally open with a broad overview of Modern versus Postmodern culture. However, because we want to fully understand presenters at the September 27-29 conference of the Native American Art Studies Association here in Fairbanks, we will detour from a strictly chronological approach and read-up on 1990s postcolonial theory during the first two weeks of class. After we enjoy the conference, we will take up a chronological approach and trace the evolution of postmodern theory from the late 1960s to the present.

We will contrast Greenberg's Modernist Formalism against Lyotard and Baudrillard's insights into the Postmodern cultural condition, with its mass culture, spectacles, and simulacra. Mid-twentieth century inquiries into the social process of art (Hauser and Berger) will be examined before exploring the Feminist critiques of power and representation. We will read excerpts from Barthes, Foucault, and Derrida in relation to critics who question the reliability of text or image as "accurate" representations. Aided by techniques appropriated from these literary theorists, critics of art use strategies from semiotics, structuralism, and deconstruction to explore conventions of visual culture.

Consensus culture and cultural conventions are further questioned by critics who assume a multicultural stance: postcolonial criticism will be seen to question the Eurocentric bias of traditional art history and cultural criticism. In a similar vein, feminist criticism challenges the tradition of representation and the institution of art patronage which tends to favor the male gaze and patriarchal culture. What was once a monolithic discipline (art criticism in the age of modernism) is seen today as interdisciplinary, a shifting field without a center.

As we investigate the revolution in the field of art criticism, we will take care to simultaneously examine the products of the postmodern revolution in the visual arts.

COURSE GOALS: It is the mission of Art History classes to increase the student's understanding of art, cultures, and societies. Art History classes inquire into the relationship between visual images and the personal, social, and historical issues that shape culture.

In this course, we will examine the structure of various critical perspectives by studying the "New Art Criticism's" reliance on theory, with its focus on ideological, economic, political, and social ramifications.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES: The class will strengthen each individual's ability to comprehend and discuss contemporary art and culture. For the artists among us, the class will assist students in interfacing their creative efforts in relation to the contemporary art environment.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: This class will be conducted as a seminar, and as such, students can expect the class to consist mainly of reading and subsequent discussion. There will be an element of lecture, but the professor will act principally as facilitator of interaction. There will be a great deal of whole class interaction and some individual presentation.

Every day we will engage in discussions about the assigned readings, which are an integral part of this seminar class. Active participation in class discussions will assist you in assimilating, questioning, and processing the information provided in the readings. The emphasis is on Active participation, meaning that you need to be prepared before class starts. For each reading you should prepare at least 3 comments/questions/reflections and be ready to apply those during our class discussions.

You might ask yourself these questions while reading each assigned reading:
Is there anything you struggle to understand?
What was particularly interesting to you?
Do you have any personal connection/anecdote/etc. related to this reading?
Do you disagree with anything stated in this reading?
Do you notice any contradiction between this reading and other writings you are familiar with?

COURSE MATERIALS: Readings for the first weeks will be distributed as Xeroxes. Following the Native American Art Studies Association conference, a virtual coursepack can be found online at <http://eres.uaf.edu/courseindex.asp> or by following the links through the library's main website. You are responsible for printing it out and bringing to class the correct readings for any given day.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: The class is primarily based on readings, discussions, and end-of-semester presentations.

PARTICIPATION: This consists of reading thoroughly all materials ahead of class, having notes / personal observations ready for class discussion, participating in discussions / debates by asking and responding thoughtfully to ideas presented by our reading materials, and attending any assigned exhibitions or lectures.

There are FOUR PROJECTS FOR CLASS:

Projects 1 & 2: LEAD TWO DISCUSSIONS (each about 45 minutes long).

Students will work in pairs to guide group discussion of readings. Each student will sign up to lead two discussions (and partners cannot be duplicated). A sign-up sheet will be available. Included in your presentation should be:

1. An outline of the article(s) with possible questions to spark discussion. (Approximately 2 pages.) Turn in.
2. Visual support materials: slides, videos, catalogues or books. Your article(s) may include artists the class is unfamiliar with. Bring in examples for the class and be prepared to "teach us" if need be.
3. You will guide the class through discussion by introducing your article(s), showing visual support materials, and posing directed questions.

I will be glad to discuss your topics with you in advance and point you in the direction of visual support material. In pre-approved cases, students may substitute the following for one of their discussion-leadership opportunities: Gain access to the Art Department Gallery before a show opens. Write a review of the show and consult with Dr. Goodwin before submitting one art review (and illustrative digital image) for publication in the UAF student paper The Sun Star.

Project 3: TERM PAPER. First draft due M November 12 (5 pages).

This is a research paper of 5 pages, which will be shared with the class as a presentation in the last weeks of the semester. Your paper should be an essay on the theme of your choice within the history of art since 1975. You might want to explore a recent artist you have been curious about; compare similar subjects treated by different artists; compare an artist's statement with critics' interpretations; or compare the works of two or more artists working in the same fashion (i.e. working with surveillance cameras, or working with media appropriations). This paper should follow the standard format for writing research papers, including an introduction, body, conclusion, and footnotes where appropriate. The paper can include visual support materials that help explain your position.

All papers should be five pages, double-spaced, and typewritten. The first draft is due Monday November 12. A personal conference with the instructor will follow and a revised final paper will be due Monday December 3.

Project 4: JOURNAL RECORD

Compile your pages of articles, questions, comments, and discussion notes into a folder or binder (to be scanned by the professor at the end of the semester). Keep it organized. It will be evaluated for evidence of critical thinking and thorough analysis of text.

EVALUATION: The grade is made up as follows:

- 20% general participation in all discussions
- 20% Project 1 Discussion leadership & presentation or Review
- 20% Project 2 Discussion leadership & presentation
- 20% Project 3: term paper and presentation
- 20% Project 4: Journal record

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined. All documentation of disability is confidential. Disability Services is located at the Whitaker Building, Room 208. Phone: 907-474-5655, TTY: 907-474-1827, Fax: 907-474-5688. Email: uaf-disabilityservices@alaska.edu.

The leap from modernism to postmodernism was also that from
 The concept of the artist as a bohemian to
 The artist as a social thinker;
 From the microcosm of the studio to society;
 From art as unigeneric to interdisciplinary;
 And most important,
 From culture as a static self-contained system
 To a dynamic one encompassing multiple territories of thought and action
 (semiotics, politics, social anthropology, media, education, etc.)

Seminar in Art History:

History of Color (Paints and Pigments)

Class held: Thurs 9:45am- 12:45pm in the UAF Museum classroom

Instructor: Mareca Guthrie

e-mail: mrguthrie@alaska.edu

Office phone: 474-5102

Office hours: by appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will present a historical perspective on the development of pigments and other fine art materials with particular emphasis on the color palettes of the Paleolithic, Egyptian, Roman, Renaissance and Impressionist artists. Hands-on labs will supplement the readings, lectures and discussions.

MATERIALS FEE:

$100 materials fee to pay for the cost of the raw pigments, binders, masks, muller, paint tubes and solvents that we use in our hands-on labs. The fee must be paid in order to participate in the labs.

WEEKLY READING:

There are no assigned textbooks for the class. There are however, daily assigned readings that will be provided in pdf form. If you would like to purchase hardcopies of the books that the majority of the readings are taken from, they are listed below. Please note that additional readings will be required from other sources, and will be provided to you in pdf form.

Color: A Natural History of the Palette

$10-$17

The Artist's Handbook

Ray Smith

$12-$20

The Artist's Handbook of Materials and Techniques

Fifth Edition

Ralph Mayer

$22-$45

QUIZES:

There are quizzes at the start of each class covering the assigned reading and the material covered in the previous class session. You may use your notes in your sketchbook during these quizzes. These quizzes count also for attendance so please do not be late.

EXAMS:

There is a final exam. You may not use your sketchbook for reference during the exam.

REQUIRED SKETCHBOOK:

This sketchbook will be graded twice during the semester for the following:

•Clarity- You do not need to change your handwriting, but it should be moderately legible and orderly. Pages need to be labeled and dated.

•All notes from class (these notes can be used on the quizzes, but not the exam)

•All notes from the readings (again these notes can be used on the quizzes too)

•All weekly sketching assignments.

You may choose what kind of sketchbook you use but I recommend:

Hard cover so that it is protected from damage

Spiral bound so that it can be opened flat to work on

Unlined pages so that drawing is easier

Medium or heavy weight paper so that the pages are strong

WEEKLY SKETCHES:

Each week a “master copy” sketch is required from the time period we are studying. You may choose an image on your own or you may choose one provided for you. An hour minimum should be spent on these and they should be in color. You may use any media you wish. I recommend completing the work on a higher quality paper and then pasting it into your sketchbook. You are not graded on the drawing skill that you enter the class with, but rather the effort and enthusiasm with which you complete the assignments.

FORGERY (FINAL ART PROJECT):

Using the information we have learned in the class, the assignment is to as faithfully as possible recreate a historic work of art. Further details will follow and readings on techniques and methods will be provided. This project may not be used for any assignment for any other course.

ATTENDANCE and GRADING:

You can not make up absences, quizzes, exams.

20% Attendance

20% Sketchbook

10% Weekly sketches

20% Quizzes

20% Final exam

10% “Forgery”

BLACKBOARD:

All material for the course will be provided on blackboard. I will demonstrate during class how this website can be accessed.

FOOD and DRINK:

As long as it is neither smelly nor loud you are welcome to bring it to class. I highly recommend bringing a hot drink as the winter months approach. No food is permitted in the hands-on labs due to the nature of the art materials.

CELL PHONES AND LAPTOPS:

I do not permit cell phones, texting or taking notes via laptop. Use of these without prior permission from me will drop your grade.

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined. All documentation of disability is confidential. Disability Services is located at the Whitaker Building, Room 208. Phone: 907-474-5655, TTY: 907-474-1827, Fax: 907-474-5688. COURSE DESCRIPTION: The advent of photography brought radical changes to both art and mass culture. Combining new visual perspectives with a reverence for past traditions and high artistic aspirations with a newly democratic approach to image-making, photography ushered in a new way of thinking about images and their place in society.

This survey course will present an overview of the major trends, developments, and critical responses to photography in the 19th and 20th centuries.

COURSE GOALS: In contemporary visual culture, photography is not only an art form, but also a documentary record, a sentimental domestic practice, a commercial tool, and a symbolic cultural language. As such, photography can be seen to have multiple histories: aesthetic, technological, social, political, and economic. The aim of this course will be to explore these multiple histories by examining photography as a whole and the negotiations and inter connections between its various functions.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES: The student will be able to identify, research, and discuss a variety of important pre-photographic and photographic images; to discuss photography as a medium that both constructs and reflects culture, and to discuss photography as an aesthetic form, a technological practice, and a vehicle for social issues.

REQUIRED TEXTS: Seizing the Light: A Social History of Photography (second edition, 2009) by Robert Hirsch, and Criticizing Photographs: An Introduction to Understanding Images (fifth edition, 2010) by Terry Barrett. Both are available as new or used paperbacks through the UAF Bookstore. A suggested reading schedule is included below. Reading assignments are to be completed before class.

I have also ordered an optional book that is also available at the bookstore, shelved with the others. The new paperback, Framing Photography, by Rebekah Modrak and Bill Anthes, combines instruction in photographic production alongside cultural history. I think you will find it inspirational. This is also available online to rent as a Kindle edition; it's up to you.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION: Class format will be primarily lecture with discussion.

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined. All documentation of disability is confidential. Disability Services is located at the Whitaker Building, Room 208. Phone: 907-474-5655, TTY: 907-474-1827, Fax: 907-474-5688. Email: uaf-disabilityservices@alaska.edu.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS: There will be four short directed-writing assignments as homework. They will serve to bring us together in discussion as a class. The writing exercises will be graded for clear articulation and expression. Critical and analytical thinking will be emphasized.

Papers are due: Mon Sept. 17, Mon Oct. 22, Mon Nov 19, and Mon Dec. 3

EXAMINATIONS: There will be three non-cumulative examinations on the text and lecture material. Students are expected to have a knowledge of the basic characteristics and chronological development of photographic techniques and aesthetic styles. In addition, they should be able to identify and discuss a number of critical approaches and important photographers. A list of important works, reproduced in the text, will be distributed before each exam.

GRADUATE PROJECT: Choose A or B.

A) A graduate student may choose to present a visual project that relates to the history of photography. A portfolio of 8-10 mounted photographs (or approved technological substitution) can be submitted along with a typed page discussing the rationale of the project. For example, you might consider making photographs "in the style of" some artist(s) we have studied. I do NOT want a recycling of images produced for other classes, but rather, a current effort produced with this class in mind. The student will present their project to the class in 15 minutes...to be scheduled in advance.

B) A graduate student may produce a 6-page research paper. I will provide guidelines. The student will present their project to the class in 15 minutes...to be scheduled in advance.

CLASS: Lectures will be supplemented with field trips and class discussions. All reading assignments are to be completed before class.

GRADING: Grades will be based on the average of "the 4 short writing assignments' average" and the three exams and the graduate project. In other words, each of the 4 writing assignments is worth 5 points. Each of the three exams is worth 20 points. The project & presentation are worth 20 points. The final grade will be this total number of points against a scale of a possible 100 points,

93-100=A 90-92=A- 87-89=B+ 83-86=B 80-82=B- 77-79=C+ 73-76=C 70-72=C- 67-69=D+ 63-66=D 60-62=D- <60=F

The instructor's Final Grades will include plusses and minuses.

UAF ART 663: SEMINAR IN ART HISTORY -
CONTEMPORARY ART, CRITICISM, & THEORY

Fall 2007

Class held: MWF 2:15- 3:15 in MUSI 301

3 credits

Dr. Mary Goodwin's Office Hours: MWF 1:00-2:00 & by appointment in MUSI 304

Office phone: 474-7726; e-mail: ffmcg@uaf.edu

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A survey of art from the last thirty years, with particular attention to the way in which theory and criticism shape the construction and reception of art. The new postmodern art criticism replaces the terminology of modernist formalist criticism - quality, attribution, style, and connoisseurship - with a new set of labels such as ideology, class, gender, sign, and signifier. Postmodern art criticism has its theoretical origins in the disciplines of the social sciences and literary theory.

Our post-industrial information age has had its effects: authenticity and originality are challenged; the notion of a monolithic social condition is challenged; high and low culture are given equal regard, and interdisciplinary work is heralded.

This course would normally open with a broad overview of Modern versus Postmodern culture. However, because we want to fully understand presenters at the September 27-29 conference of the Native American Art Studies Association here in Fairbanks, we will detour from a strictly chronological approach and read-up on 1990s postcolonial theory during the first two weeks of class. After we enjoy the conference, we will take up a chronological approach and trace the evolution of postmodern theory from the late 1960s to the present.

We will contrast Greenberg's Modernist Formalism against Lyotard and Baudrillard's insights into the Postmodern cultural condition, with its mass culture, spectacles, and simulacra. Mid-twentieth century inquiries into the social process of art (Hauser and Berger) will be examined before exploring the Feminist critiques of power and representation. We will read excerpts from Barthes, Foucault, and Derrida in relation to critics who question the reliability of text or image as "accurate" representations. Aided by techniques appropriated from these literary theorists, critics of art use strategies from semiotics, structuralism, and deconstruction to explore conventions of visual culture.

Consensus culture and cultural conventions are further questioned by critics who assume a multicultural stance: postcolonial criticism will be seen to question the Eurocentric bias of traditional art history and cultural criticism. In a similar vein, feminist criticism challenges the tradition of representation and the institution of art patronage which tends to favor the male gaze and patriarchal culture. What was once a monolithic discipline (art criticism in the age of modernism) is seen today as interdisciplinary, a shifting field without a center.

As we investigate the revolution in the field of art criticism, we will take care to simultaneously examine the products of the postmodern revolution in the visual arts.

COURSE GOALS: It is the mission of Art History classes to increase the student's understanding of art, cultures, and societies. Art History classes inquire into the relationship between visual images and the personal, social, and historical issues that shape culture.

In this course, we will examine the structure of various critical perspectives by studying the "New Art Criticism's" reliance on theory, with its focus on ideological, economic, political, and social ramifications.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES: The class will strengthen each individual's ability to comprehend and discuss contemporary art and culture. For the artists among us, the class will assist students in interfacing their creative efforts in relation to the contemporary art environment.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: This class will be conducted as a seminar, and as such, students can expect the class to consist mainly of reading and subsequent discussion. There will be an element of lecture, but the professor will act principally as facilitator of interaction. There will be a great deal of whole class interaction and some individual presentation.

Every day we will engage in discussions about the assigned readings, which are an integral part of this seminar class. Active participation in class discussions will assist you in assimilating, questioning, and processing the information provided in the readings. The emphasis is on Active participation, meaning that you need to be prepared before class starts. For each reading you should prepare at least 3 comments/questions/reflections and be ready to apply those during our class discussions.

You might ask yourself these questions while reading each assigned reading:

Is there anything you struggle to understand?

What was particularly interesting to you?

Do you have any personal connection/anecdote/etc. related to this reading?

Do you disagree with anything stated in this reading?

Do you notice any contradiction between this reading and other writings you are familiar with?

COURSE MATERIALS: Readings for the first weeks will be distributed as Xeroxes. Following the Native American Art Studies Association conference, a virtual coursepack can be found online at <http://eres.uaf.edu/courseindex.asp> or by following the links through the library's main website. You are responsible for printing it out and bringing to class the correct readings for any given day.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: The class is primarily based on readings, discussions, and end-of-semester presentations.

PARTICIPATION: This consists of reading thoroughly all materials ahead of class, having notes / personal observations ready for class discussion, participating in discussions / debates by asking and responding thoughtfully to ideas presented by our reading materials, and attending any assigned exhibitions or lectures.

There are FOUR PROJECTS FOR CLASS:

Projects 1 & 2: LEAD TWO DISCUSSIONS (each about 45 minutes long).

Students will work in pairs to guide group discussion of readings. Each student will sign up to lead two discussions (and partners cannot be duplicated). A sign-up sheet will be available. Included in your presentation should be:

1. An outline of the article(s) with possible questions to spark discussion. (Approximately 2 pages.) Turn in.
2. Visual support materials: slides, videos, catalogues or books. Your article(s) may include artists the class is unfamiliar with. Bring in examples for the class and be prepared to "teach us" if need be.
3. You will guide the class through discussion by introducing your article(s), showing visual support materials, and posing directed questions.

I will be glad to discuss your topics with you in advance and point you in the direction of visual support material. In pre-approved cases, students may substitute the following for one of their discussion-leadership opportunities: Gain access to the Art Department Gallery before a show opens. Write a review of the show and consult with Dr. Goodwin before submitting one art review (and illustrative digital image) for publication in the UAF student paper The Sun Star.

Project 3: TERM PAPER. First draft due M November 12 (5 pages).

This is a research paper of 5 pages, which will be shared with the class as a presentation in the last weeks of the semester. Your paper should be an essay on the theme of your choice within the history of art since 1975. You might want to explore a recent artist you have been curious about; compare similar subjects treated by different artists; compare an artist's statement with critics' interpretations; or compare the works of two or more artists working in the same fashion (i.e. working with surveillance cameras, or working with media appropriations). This paper should follow the standard format for writing research papers, including an introduction, body, conclusion, and footnotes where appropriate. The paper can include visual support materials that help explain your position.

All papers should be five pages, double-spaced, and typewritten. The first draft is due Monday November 12. A personal conference with the instructor will follow and a revised final paper will be due Monday December 3.

Project 4: JOURNAL RECORD

Compile your pages of articles, questions, comments, and discussion notes into a folder or binder (to be scanned by the professor at the end of the semester). Keep it organized. It will be evaluated for evidence of critical thinking and thorough analysis of text.

Project 5: MY ARTISTIC TRADITIONS AND INNOVATIONS (7 pages)

Graduate students are to research and write a 5-page paper in which they expand on two or more artists who form the foundation of tradition in which the student-artist functions. A bibliography should include at least 3 critical responses to each artist. Consider the critical responses in the body of the research paper.

In 2 final pages, the student is to identify his/her place in this tradition and to identify the innovations that make their work distinctly their own. This might be done by adopting an imaginary critical persona and writing a review.

The research paper will be shared as a 20-minute illustrated lecture/discussion with the class. Date to be arranged in advance.

EVALUATION: The grade is made up as follows:

- 16.6% general participation in all discussions
- 16.6% Project 1 Discussion leadership & presentation or Review
- 16.6% Project 2 Discussion leadership & presentation
- 16.6% Project 3: term paper and presentation
- 16.6% Project 4: Journal record
- 16.6% Project 5: My Artistic Traditions Paper

Graduate students are expected to perform at a level of critical inquiry that reflects their additional years of education.

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined. All documentation of disability is confidential. Disability Services is located at the Whitaker Building, Room 208. Phone: 907-474-5655, TTY: 907-474-1827, Fax: 907-474-5688. The leap from modernism to postmodernism was also that from
The concept of the artist as a bohemian to
The artist as a social thinker;
From the microcosm of the studio to society;
From art as unigeneric to interdisciplinary;
And most important,
From culture as a static self-contained system
To a dynamic one encompassing multiple territories of thought and action
(semiotics, politics, social anthropology, media, education, etc.)

W Sept. 12	THE ART HISTORY COURSE: Are students failing to learn to discriminate about quality, to appreciate the role of tradition and style in creating art? Is the new emphasis on "visual culture" undermining students' understanding of art itself? Is the "New Art History" merely a set of fashionable ideologies that will fade, or does it create a stronger, more relevant discipline?

Seminar in Art History: History of Color (Paints and Pigments)

Class held: Thurs 9:45am- 12:45pm in the UAF Museum classroom

Instructor: Mareca Guthrie

e-mail: mrguthrie@alaska.edu

Office phone: 474-5102

Office hours: by appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will present a historical perspective on the development of pigments and other fine art materials with particular emphasis on the color palettes of the Paleolithic, Egyptian, Roman, Renaissance and Impressionist artists. Hands-on labs will supplement the readings, lectures and discussions.

MATERIALS FEE:

$100 materials fee to pay for the cost of the raw pigments, binders, masks, muller, paint tubes and solvents that we use in our hands-on labs. The fee must be paid in order to participate in the labs.

WEEKLY READING:

There are no assigned textbooks for the class. There are however, daily assigned readings that will be provided in pdf form. If you would like to purchase hardcopies of the books that the majority of the readings are taken from, they are listed below. Please note that additional readings will be required from other sources, and will be provided to you in pdf form.

Color: A Natural History of the Palette

QUIZES:

There are quizzes at the start of each class covering the assigned reading and the material covered in the previous class session. You may use your notes in your sketchbook during these quizzes. These quizzes count also for attendance so please do not be late.

EXAMS:

There is a final exam. You may not use your sketchbook for reference during the exam.

REQUIRED SKETCHBOOK:

This sketchbook will be graded twice during the semester for the following:

- Clarity- You do not need to change your handwriting, but it should be moderately legible and orderly. Pages need to be labeled and dated.
- All notes from class (these notes can be used on the quizzes, but not the exam)
- All notes from the readings (again these notes can be used on the quizzes too)
- All weekly sketching assignments.

You may choose what kind of sketchbook you use but I recommend:

Hard cover so that it is protected from damage

Spiral bound so that it can be opened flat to work on

Unlined pages so that drawing is easier

Medium or heavy weight paper so that the pages are strong

WEEKLY SKETCHES:

Each week a "master copy" sketch is required from the time period we are studying. You may choose an image on your own or you may choose one provided for you. An hour minimum should be spent on these and they should be in color. You may use any media you wish. I recommend completing the work on a higher quality paper and then pasting it into your sketchbook. You are not graded on the drawing skill that you enter the class with, but rather the effort and enthusiasm with which you complete the assignments.

FORGERY (FINAL ART PROJECT):

Using the information we have learned in the class, the assignment is to as faithfully as possible recreate a historic work of art. Further details will follow and readings on techniques and methods will be provided. This project may not be used for any assignment for any other course.

ATTENDANCE and GRADING:

You can not make up absences, quizzes, exams.

20% Attendance

20% Sketchbook

10% Weekly sketches

20% Quizzes

20% Final exam

10% "Forgery"

BLACKBOARD:

All material for the course will be provided on blackboard. I will demonstrate during class how this website can be accessed.

FOOD and DRINK:

As long as it is neither smelly nor loud you are welcome to bring it to class. I highly recommend bringing a hot drink as the winter months approach. No food is permitted in the hands-on labs due to the nature of the art materials.

CELL PHONES AND LAPTOPS:

I do not permit cell phones, texting or taking notes via laptop. Use of these without prior permission from me will drop your grade.

SUPPORT SERVICES: Writing assistance is offered in the 8th floor Gruening Writing Center (474-5314).

DISABILITY SERVICES: If you have a physical, psychological, medical, or learning disability that may impact your ability to carry out assigned course work, please contact the UAF Office of Disability Services and appropriate accommodations will be determined.
