Spring 2012, Spring 2013

18. ESTIMATED IMPACT

WHAT IMPACT, IF ANY, WILL THIS HAVE ON BUDGET, FACILITIES/SPACE, FACULTY, ETC.

The course will be instructed as part of Dr. Jarrett's normal workload and will not have any budget ramifications. Because the course will be offered as part of the Justice Department's normal instructional load it will not require more facilities/space than ordinarily required for the delivery of the Justice curriculum.

19. LIBRARY COLLECTIONS

Have you contacted the library collection development officer (kljensen@alaska.edu, 474-6695) with regard to the adequacy of library/media collections, equipment, and services available for the proposed course? If so, give date of contact and resolution. If not, explain why not.

No

Yes

Both relevant paper and electronic journals are available.

20. IMPACTS ON PROGRAMS/DEPTS

What programs/departments will be affected by this proposed action?
Include information on the Programs/Departments contacted (e.g., email, memo)

The course will be part of the suite of courses created for the new Justice minor in Dispute Resolution. This course is (one of several) that expands choices for Justice majors and other students interested in Alternative Dispute Resolution practices. The impact on the Justice Department itself will be positive in that more students will be attracted to the Justice Major because of the availability of ADR coursework which is in increasing use in a variety of criminal and civil contexts. We foresee no negative impacts on other courses, programs or departments.

21. POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE IMPACTS

Please specify positive and negative impacts on other courses, programs and departments resulting from the proposed action.

The Justice Department does not perceive this course as negatively impacting any departments or programs. The course is part of curriculum changes being proposed for the Bachelor of Arts in Justice, and a proposed minor in Dispute Resolution Systems. The course and the proposed minor are likely to be beneficial for Social Work, Psychology and Sociology majors.

The course, proposed minor and curriculum changes to the Justice major reflect the Department's effort to create a dispute resolution emphasis in its undergraduate program. Dispute Resolution and Restorative justice has been adopted as the operational paradigm for Alaska's Division of Juvenile Justice, and consequently, the Department believes it is important to adopt a restorative justice emphasis in its undergraduate program.

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed course.

The course represents one of the elective choices in the proposed new Minor in Dispute Resolution. The course will focus on the theory and practice of mediation. The Justice Department is evolving to develop curriculum in Dispute Resolution in order to better prepare future Justice students for the workplace.

The Faculty Senate curriculum committees will review the syllabus to ensure that each of the items listed below are included. If items are missing or unclear, the proposed course (or changes to it) may be denied.

SYLLABUS CHECKLIST FOR ALL UAF COURSES

During the first week of class, instructors will distribute a course syllabus. Although modifications may be made throughout the semester, this document will contain the following information (as applicable to the discipline):

1. Course information:

Title, number, credits, prerequisites, location, meeting time (make sure that contact hours are in line with credits).

2. Instructor (and if applicable, Teaching Assistant) information:

Name, office location, office hours, telephone, email address.

3. Course readings/materials:

Course textbook title, author, edition/publisher.

Supplementary readings (indicate whether required or recommended) and any supplies required.

4. Course description:

Content of the course and how it fits into the broader curriculum;

Expected proficiencies required to undertake the course, if applicable.

Inclusion of catalog description is strongly recommended, and

Description in syllabus must be consistent with catalog course description.

5. Course Goals (general), and (see #6)

6. Student Learning Outcomes (more specific)

7. Instructional methods:

Describe the teaching techniques (eg: lecture, case study, small group discussion, private instruction, studio instruction, values clarification, games, journal writing, use of Blackboard, audio/video conferencing, etc.).

8. Course calendar:

A schedule of class topics and assignments must be included. Be specific so that it is clear that the instructor has thought this through and will not be making it up on the fly (e.g. it is not adequate to say "lab". Instead, give each lab a title that describes its content). You may call the outline Tentative or Work in Progress to allow for modifications during the semester.

9. Course policies:

Specify course rules, including your policies on attendance, tardiness, class participation, make-up exams, and plagiarism/academic integrity.

10. Evaluation:

Specify how students will be evaluated, what factors will be included, their relative value, and how they will be tabulated into grades (on a curve, absolute scores, etc.) Publicize UAF regulations with regard to the grades of "C" and below as applicable to this course. (Not required in the syllabus, but may be a convenient way to publicize this.) Faculty Senate Meeting #171:

11. Support Services:

Describe the student support services such as tutoring (local and/or regional) appropriate for the course.

12. Disabilities Services:

The Office of Disability Services implements the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and insures that UAF students have equal access to the campus and course materials.

State that you will work with the Office of Disabilities Services (208 WHITAKER BLDG, 474-5655) to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities.

Course Description

JUST F401 Cross Cultural Conflict Analysis and Intervention
3 Credits Offered Every Spring

Students will learn key concepts and skills that will help them respond to cross-cultural and human-rights conflicts in a productive manner. Students will learn basic conflict analysis for cross-cultural and human rights disputes, including those occurring in rural Alaska. By the end of the course students will understand the theoretical assumptions that drive these conflicts and will learn tools to resolve them. (Prerequisite JUST F302, and ENGL 211/213, or permission of instructor) (3 + 0).

Course Goals

1. The course will introduce students to the field of human rights and cross-cultural conflict resolution, its theoretical stances, practices, and history.

2. Students will be given the opportunity to personally explore their own approaches to cross-cultural conflict, and what other approaches to conflict may be available to them.

3. Students will also learn to connect different theories and approaches to human-rights and cross-cultural conflicts.

4. Students will leave the class with basic conflict resolution and negotiation skills. Their final project will give them the opportunity to apply their new understandings and skills to real life conflicts.

5. Students will come to recognize and apply the various methods of cross-cultural conflict resolution.

6. Students will understand how theory connects to practice in the field of cross-cultural and human-rights dispute resolution.

7. Students will learn to assess and provide interventions by working through several real-life case studies.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to recognize the elements of cross cultural conflicts.
2. Students will understand the main theories underlying the practice of cross cultural dispute resolution.
3. Students will be able to identify, define, and utilize the basic tools of cross-cultural conflict analysis and dispute resolution.
4. Students will be able to apply cross-cultural conflict resolution techniques to disputes in a host of sectors, including human rights and international disputes.
5. Students will be able to mediate cross-cultural disputes, including those arising in Alaska.

Instructional Methods:

This course is taught through a combination of lecture, discussion boards, Blogs/journals, group activities, reading assignments, and in-class (or electronic) presentations.

Class discussions, role-plays, lecture, multimedia presentations, and other experiential exercises will be used to reach course goal and objectives.

Required Blackboard Applications

This course will be supplemented by the Blackboard online learning platform. You will be asked to take quizzes, post journals and other work and receive announcements on the Blackboard course website. You will also be able to Blackboard mail the instructor and each other and check your scores on the site, as soon as they are posted. You can gain access to Blackboard through any one of the computer labs on campus or on your home computer.

Course Policies:

Class Attendance and Participation

This class brings theory to practice. Participation is absolutely necessary and a major requirement of the course. There are, of course, legitimate reasons for excused absences, in which case a formal note or documentation will be necessary. More than three unexcused absences will result in loss of entire participation grade. More than six unexcused absences will result in failure of the course. BE SURE TO BRING A NOTE FROM YOUR DOCTOR IF YOU NEED TO TAKE TIME OFF DUE TO THE FLU OR OTHER MEDICAL CONDITION.

You can gain participation points in the class through active participation and genuine interest. BE ADVISED THAT THIS IS A DEMANDING CLASS, IN TERMS OF PARTICIPATION REQUIREMENTS.

STUDENTS MUST GIVE PRESENTATIONS DURING CLASS TO GAIN PARTICIPATION POINTS. STUDENTS MUST ALSO RESPOND TO QUESTIONS POSED BY THE INSTRUCTOR DURING CLASS.

You will automatically lose participation points if you engage in any of the following prohibited behaviors:

- Being late for Classes;
- Talking or texting on your cell phone in class;
- Leaving class early. In order to be marked present, you must be in the lecture room for the entire class period.
- Talking while the instructor is lecturing or another student is presenting.

The professor will ask you to leave the class and/or drop the course if you disrupt the class or engage in any of the above behaviors.

Late work will not be accepted. Special permission must be given prior and must be based upon a dire emergency and will not be given for procrastination.

Plagiarism and academic dishonesty will not be tolerated, and is subject to disciplinary action per the Student Code of Conduct, Board of Regents policy 09.02.01 (noted on p. 51 2011-12 UAF Catalog).

Grading Criteria

Grades will be assessed based on the following criteria:

Grading Requirements

Informed, Meaningful, and Active Participation	20%
Journals	10%
Quizzes	30%
Final Paper	20%
Final Comprehensive Exam	20%

Grading Scale:

The instructor will use the +/- grading system. Note the following.

- 7-100 = A+
- 93-96 = A
- 90-92 = A-
- 87-90 = B+
- 83-86 = B
- 80-82 = B-
- 77-80 = C+
- 73-76 = C
- 70-72 = C-
- 67-70 = D+
- 63-66 = D
- 60-62 = D-
- 59 or below = F

A C- grade is the minimum grade that baccalaureate students may receive for courses to count toward the major or minor degree requirements, or as a prerequisite for another course.

Journals

You will be asked to write a paragraph or two about how you are doing in the course and where you are building strengths. You will also be asked to assess where you need to build skills.

Journal Rubric:

Quizzes

You will be asked to take three multiple choice/true-false quizzes. They will be available in Blackboard.

Final Examination

You will be asked to take a final multiple choice/true-false exam which will also be available in Blackboard.

Final Paper

The final project is a 10 page paper that will focus on an aspect of a human-rights and/or cross-cultural conflict. You may select a particular conflict as a case study or develop a particular theoretical application. The paper project is your opportunity to explore cross-cultural and human-rights conflicts in an in-depth way. I want to encourage you to be creative and will give you a good deal of latitude to explore the topic that most interests you. Feel free to approach me with your ideas about a topic. We will discuss final paper topics in class.

Writing Criteria

Correct grammar

Concise and logical writing style

Intro – body – conclusion format

At least three credible references

Use any citation style eg. MLA, APA, ASA etc, but be sure to be consistent.

Developing Writing Skills

At the University Writing Center trained consultants are ready to help you at any stage of the writing process. It is often helpful for writers to share their work with an attentive reader, and consultations allow writers to test and refine their ideas before having to hand papers in or to release documents to the public. In addition to the important writing instruction that occurs in the classroom and during teachers' office hours, the center offers another site for learning about writing. All undergraduates are encouraged to make use of this important student service. For more information about the writing center's hours and policies, visit the writing center.
