From the General University Requirements section of "How to Earn a Bachelor's Degree" in the UAF Catalog.
Do all the required courses currently exist?		Yes
If not, list the corresponding New Course paperwork associated with this request:

A. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPOSED MINOR. Include reasons justifying its creation; objectives of the minor and relationship of the required courses to those objectives.

The minor in Ancient, Medieval, and Early Modern Studies will allow students to broaden and deepen their understanding and knowledge of earlier cultures and civilizations in the Western tradition. Students will take courses in at least three of the noted disciplines. This will provide students with the opportunity to examine multiple aspects of the particular time periods within the scope of the minor. The courses in the minor will explore both dominant and marginalized, threatened, or suppressed constructs, movements, and beliefs of each time period as well as notable influences of and interactions with other cultures and regions. Such engagement not only will ensure a better grasp of the cultures and civilizations studied, but it will also instill a stronger appreciation for the ways in which contemporary North American society perpetuates cultural elements and practices of earlier traditions.

B. PROPOSED MINOR REQUIREMENTS AS THEY WILL APPEAR IN THE CATALOG:

See samples provided on page 3 of this form.

The minor in Ancient, Medieval, and Early Modern Studies will provide students with a background in the Western tradition in disciplines that emphasizes key artistic, literary, philosophical, political, religious, and social movements in these time periods. Students will gain a better understanding of the workings and struggles, advancements and achievements, and conflicts and prejudices of these civilizations and cultures. The curriculum requires that students take classes in at least three fields of study and thereby ensures that students will engage in a well-rounded examination of these time periods.

C. ESTIMATED IMPACT

WHAT IMPACT, IF ANY, WILL THIS HAVE ON BUDGET, FACILITIES/SPACE, FACULTY, ETC.

No additional resources (budget, facilities/space, faculty) are required at this time since all of these classes are already regularly offered by the various departments. Any enrollment increase will result in additional tuition revenues.

The interdisciplinary nature of the minor has the additional benefits of increased communication between faculty and students in different departments and scholarly collaboration across disciplines.

D. IMPACTS ON PROGRAMS/DEPTS:

*What programs/departments will be affected by this proposed action?
 Include information on the Programs/Departments contacted (e.g., email, memo)*

Department of Art, Da-ka-ween Mehner, Chair (dmehner@alaska.edu)
Department of English, Richard Carr, Chair (rscarr@alaska.edu)
Department of History, John Heaton, Chair (jwheaton2@alaska.edu)
Department of Music, William Post, Chair (wdpost@alaska.edu)
Department of Philosophy and Humanities, Eduardo Wilner, Chair (emwilner@alaska.edu)
Department of Political Science, Amy Lovecraft, Chair (alovecraft@alaska.edu)

F. PERSONNEL DIRECTLY INVOLVED WITH THE MINOR:

List faculty currently teaching the required and elective (if any) courses, with a brief statement of duties and qualifications.

Zoë Marie Jones (Term Assistant Professor of Art)
Eileen M. Harney (Assistant Professor of English)
Terence Reilly (Professor of English)
Paul R. Krejci (Term Assistant Professor of Music)
Seth Jones (Term Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Humanities)
Alexander Hirsch (Assistant Professor of Political Science)

G. RELATIONSHIP OF THE PROPOSED MINOR'S OBJECTIVES TO THE "PURPOSES OF THE UNIVERSITY".

Include additional justifying information to support creation of the minor such as projected and present enrollments; need or public demand for the minor; support of other programs by the minor's creation, etc.

This minor will respond to student interest in and demand for further access to classes in these time periods. In order to enroll in a few of these classes and use them for electives, current students have to be highly organized, skilled at navigating the catalog and course schedule for several years into the future, and aware of their interests in Antiquity, the Middle Ages, and the Early Modern period almost from the outset of their college careers. The structure of this minor will lay out the current and future offerings in a clear manner and provide space in their degree for the desired strong foundation in and understanding of the Western tradition.

Furthermore, the minor aims to follow the directives of Interim Chancellor Thomas and Provost Henrichs to highlight our faculty members' strengths and areas of expertise and to utilize them in new ways. This minor will connect students and faculty across CLA and will allow opportunities for interdisciplinary scholarship and collaboration.
