

Hi All:

here's a statement from Mary:

" The syllabus is available to students in advance. As I note in the syllabus, I strongly advise that students read most or all of UTC ahead of time. They also have to read the first two chapters of the text book ahead of time. I also will tell them that the reading, studying for quizzes and tests, and the writing of the paper will require multiple hours each afternoon and evening after class and most of the weekend between the two weeks. I presume that they will write the paper during that weekend. They also will have to read at least the next two chapters of the text book that weekend.

So in other words, this course will have to be more than a full time job during these two weeks. It will require them to commit about 70 hours each week for two weeks. I will discuss this with them the first day, and if I see signs that they are slacking, I'll reiterate my expectations."
