ENGL 455: Studies in 20th Century and 21st Century American Literature. (3 credits) Writing intensive O/2 Oral Intensive

DESCRIPTION OF COURSE, COURSE GOALS AND STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

This course is intended to be an intensive study of modern and postmodern American literature as it emerges into the 21st century. This semester we will explore some of the major works of the 20th century but focus on the theme of alienation and urban landscape. Through both careful analysis of the works themselves and reading into the contemporary literary theory and criticism, we will identify stylistic, narrative and thematic aspects of these works, but we will also look at broader topics of cultural studies. Postcolonial thought and border theory will be a starting point, but we will urban semiology and multiculturalism.

Course goals include familiarizing students with all the major works of this period while placing them in an interactive discourse with culture and the arts. Students will become acquainted with some of the most important currents of 20^{th} century thought. By the end of the course, students should be able to identify and discuss stylistic, narrative and thematic aspects of 20^{th} and 21^{st} century American literature and be able to incorporate modern critical theory in their discussion and in a research essay.

Prerequisites are COMM 131 or COMM 141 and ENGL 211X or 213X; or permission of the instructor

REQUIRED TEXTS

- Ralph Ellison, The Invisible Man
- N. Scott Momaday, House Made of Dawn
- Short Stories by Hemmingway, Fitzgerald, Cheever, Anderson, Steinbeck and others as listed in the syllabus. American Short Story Reader. Ed. Kenneth Roper
- Poetry Selections by T.S. Elliot, Ezra Pound, William Carlos Williams, Allen Ginsberg, Robert Lowell, Elizabeth Bishop, Gertrude Stein, Ann Sexton, Adrienne Rich and others in the anthology. American Poetry in Context, Ed. Robert Dewey
- A Street Car Named Desire, Tennessee Williams

Other requirements include

- Passing a final examination
- Complete successful oral presentations
- Completing all assigned readings
- Vigorously participating in class discussions.

All work must be completed to receive credit for the course. You will receive feedback from me on all written work for this course as well as the opportunity to revise. The research paper will be developed in stages in consultation with me, and there will be at least one personal conference during office hours devoted to your writing. C & D

IMPORTANT MATTERS

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

Regular attendance is crucial. Every absence over 4 will cause your final grade to be lowered by 3 points. Your 4 non-penalized absences should be used for personal illness, family illness, travel, automobile problems, etc. Please do not use all your absences early in the semester, as I do not distinguish between excused and unexcused absences.

If you do miss a class, it is your responsibility to contact someone in the class to find out what you missed.

Students are expected to be in class on time. Tardiness of 10 minutes or more will be counted as half an absence. Please allow extra time for road delays and/or parking problems.

CLASS PRESENTATION

There will be 2 presentation by each student. Presentation #1 must be at least 5 minutes. You will be responsible for introducing one of the writers we will be discussing. You are expected to review the writer's biography, list major work and identify any particular schools of literary thought that are identified with the writer. You should seek out interviews and have at least one quote from the writer. The second presentation is on critical reading to be assigned from e-reserve. It must be 8-10 minutes and include a question and answer session. You will receive feedback from me on both presentations.

CLASS RULES

Students should not leave class except in the case of an emergency.

Any student found doing work for another class while class is in session will be asked to leave and will receive an absence for the day.

Also, cell phones should be turned off and put away before class begins.

GRADING:

3-4 page essay	20%
Research essay	35%
Final examination	20%

GRADING CRITERIA

Grading for this class will follow UAF guidelines:

A = An honor grade, indicates originality, a thorough mastery of the subject, and the satisfactory completion of more work than is regularly required

B = Indicates outstanding ability above the average level of performance

C = Indicates a satisfactory or average level of performance

D = The lowest passing grade, indicates work of below average quality and performance

F = Indicates failure to meet lowest standards

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism means using someone else's words or ideas and attempting to pass them off as your own—this includes material taken from the Internet. Students should not utilize secondary sources in written assignments unless specifically instructed; moreover, not completely documenting secondary sources constitutes plagiarism. Plagiarism is an extremely serious offense, and any student caught plagiarizing will automatically and irrevocably receive a failing grade in the course. Academic dishonesty is easily detected and easy to avoid. If you have any questions or doubts, see me before turning in the paper in question, as misunderstanding does not constitute a valid excuse.

LATE PAPERS

Assignments are due at the beginning of class on the date designated on the course schedule. Late papers are only allowed with 48 hours notice and under extraordinary circumstances; papers must be turned in no later than one week after they were due to receive credit on the assignment. The research essay, due the final day of class, will not be allowed an extension.

STUDY GUIDES AND EXTRA-CREDIT

I do not give study guides nor offer extra-credit assignments.

DISABILITY SERVICES

The Office of Disability Services implements the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and insures that UAF students have equal access to the campus and course materials. Students with a physical or learning disability who may need academic accommodations should contact Mary Matthews in the Office of Disabilities Services (203 WHIT, 474-7043, TTY 474-7045). You will need to provide documentation of your disability. I will work with the Office of Disability Services to make the appropriate accommodation.
